Biography Worksheet

Now that you have completed your narrative and pinpointed your position in the market, it is time to write your biography. Let's check out some artists and their biography. Choose some artists that you feel closely connected to and search for their bio's.

Which of the artist's biographies do you like best? What are the unique selling points, milestones, and goals they mention? List as many as you can.

Write your artist biography if you don't feel comfortable writing the biography yourself. Ask someone you trust and who is good at writing to do it for you. Make sure you write a biography in both English and your mother language.
